Arkansas Business Hall of Fame
2003 Celebration

Hosted by the Sam M. Walton College of Business
Statehouse Convention Center Ballroom – Little Rock, Arkansas – Friday, February 7, 2003
Reception at 6:00 p.m. – Dinner at 6:45 p.m. – Black-Tie Optional

The Arkansas Business Hall of Fame Celebration hosted by the Sam M. Walton College of Business has become one of the State’s most prestigious events. The 2003 celebration is sure to be as extraordinary as previous inductions. Current members of the Arkansas Business Hall of Fame include: the late William T. Dillard, Sr., Dillard’s, Inc., the late Charles H. Murphy, Jr., Murphy Oil Corporation; Jackson T. Stephens, Stephens Inc.; the late Sam M. Walton, Wal-Mart Stores, Inc.; Joe T. Ford, ALITEL Corporation; the late Harvey Jones of Jones Truck Lines; the late Donald W. Reynolds, Donrey Media Group; Don Tyson, Tyson Foods, Inc.; the late Col. Thomas H. Barton, Lion Oil Company; the late William E. Darby, National Old Line Insurance Company; J.B. and Johnelle Hunt, J.B. Hunt Transport Services, Inc.; John H. Johnson, Johnson Publishing Company, Inc.; Roland S. Boreham, Jr., Baldor Electric Company; Sheridan Garrison, American Freightways, Inc.; Gene George, George’s, Inc.; and Walter V. Smiley, Smiley Investment Company.

Selection criteria include making a significant impact as a business leader, showing concern for improving the community, and displaying ethics in all business dealings. No more than four recipients are to be chosen in any given year, and all nominations are kept on file for five years.

We mean business!

Last year the University of Arkansas National Phone Campaign raised nearly $150,000 for scholarships, student programs and classroom enhancements in the Walton College. UA students are poised and ready to begin calling Walton College alumni and need your help in reaching this year’s goal.

When you receive your call remember, we mean business!
